

Tony Fisch

President, Tony I

On Nov 17, 2015, at 12:16 PM, Rio wrote:

I see no one following up or doing anything about it. The video is still blatantly displayed on Youtube, welcoming all to climb the Sign.

On Nov 17, 2015, at 12:06 PM, Tony wrote:

Either the USC Athletic program, or the LA Times needs to be made aware of it. It needs to be removed. USC has had an embarrassing year in the media with its former coach now in rehab. It appears that Sullivan travels around the world during the summer making wild videos to place on YouTube. Frankly, maybe the Times is the best way to bring attention to how irresponsible the city is via a not so thoughtful USC football scholarship athlete breaking our laws.

Thank you

Tony I

President, Tony I

On Nov 17, 2015, at 10:53 AM, Christine wrote:

I wonder if Dr. Nikias, the President of USC
Pat Hayden Athletic Director USC are aware that one of their students and a member of the USC football team (quarterback) is illegally trespassing on city property and socially bragging about it.

On Mon, Nov 16, 2015 at 3:26 PM, Rio Phior

<

ite:

"How to climb the Hollywood Sign" by Conner Sullivan, a highlight on Youtube (over 12,000 views)

Video footage taken in April this year. Looks like fun:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mN35QO05xjY>

-Rio

On Nov 16, 2015 at 3:20 PM, Laura,

> wrote:

I would be interested to hear from LAPD the reasons that extraordinary precautions were taken to protect the Hollywood sign on December 31, 1999-January 1, 2000, and why we haven't seen anything close to that since then. Surely the possibility of an attack is at least as great now as it was when Y2K was our biggest worry.

Just a few months ago, Guy I [redacted] nose house on [redacted] Deronda Drive is one of the closest to the sign, relayed that he called the park rangers to report a "hiker" who was off-road and half-way up the hill to the sign with no interference from anyone at the communications facility on Mt Lee. He was directed by whomever he reached to call LAPD. Long story short: By the time LAPD arrived an hour later, the hiker had taken his selfie and split.

As President Obama noted in his speech at the G20 (referring to the Boston Marathon bombers), all it takes is a couple of guys with a crockpot. Please let's not make it quite so easy.

Sincerely,
Laura

On 11/16/15, 1:53 PM, "Tj [redacted]" wrote:

Dear Councilman Ryu,
Shortly after you took office a group of us, from Hollywoodland and Lake Hollywood Estates met with you and your staff at city hall. Jennifer Cohen of DOT, Officers Manny Romeral and Phil Walters of the LAPD were also in attendance. During the meeting the issue of the communications tower atop Mt. Lee came up and both Walters and Romeral wonder why the the road accessing the communications tower was not restricted, sighting that both the LAPD and LAFD relied on those towers for their communications. Both officers saying, they considered the tower to be a "soft target" especially attractive due to the proximity to the Hollywood Sign. Due to the events of this passed Friday night in Paris those words resonate with particular significance. Councilman Ryu, there was a time when the access to the tower was restricted. I used to run daily in the hills, if I tried to run that service road I was met with either a